On August 21st, National Senior Citizens Day recognizes the achievements of the more mature representatives of our nation. The day provides an opportunity to show our appreciation for their dedication, accomplishments, and services they give throughout their lives. This day provides the opportunity to remind governments of their promises made to the senior citizens and measures, which should be taken for them. It is the duty of every government to ensure that they are able to avail all state benefits without hassle. The day also underscores the importance of ensuring that the senior citizens do not face any kind of abuse or difficulty.

Photography can help seniors stay social by giving them an interest they can share with others. This means more than just sharing your photos with loved ones or online followers, though. This is especially important for seniors since isolation can be debilitating over time.

India has always been known for its rich culture, various languages, and for the system of living in a joint family. A joint family does not only mean a group of people living together, it means that these people are tied with a blood relation and choose to live in a single household for many reasons – sometimes out of will and sometimes because of compulsion.

This year, we celebrate the 32nd World Senior Citizen Day. The day was first proposed by former US President Ronald Reagan in 1988. On August 21 that year, he officially commemorated the first National Senior Citizens Day. Two years later, the United Nations General Assembly adopted it as a global celebration.

As there are many members in the family, the work is divided equally between all. Everyone realizes their responsibility, and the work does not feel like a burden when living in a joint family. There is no work pressure, and it is a great learning experience for the children. They, too, learn to help their elders in daily chores like setting the table, filling water bottles, arranging the study table after studying, assembling the toys, and keeping them aside.

The emotional, financial, and bond of togetherness is very strong between members of a joint family. When talking about emotional bonds, children and elders get love and care from each other. The love between the siblings, between cousins and elders, is stronger than in a nuclear family. They all are emotionally connected. When talking about financial bonds, everyone knows that people in the family help each other in financial crises. All those earnings in the family contribute to the monthly expenses, and thus, there is no burden on one person in the family. People living in a joint family share their happiness and sorrows.

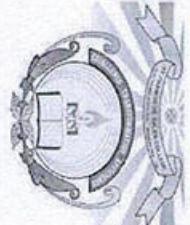

St. Francis de Sales College has conducted the competition Photograph with Senior citizen on 21st August 2021 during National Senior citizen day. St. Francis de Sales College knows the value of united family, so that, through this competition we wanted to connect old generation with young generation. It is a new attempt to grow healthy society, relations and friends.
