and Listening Skills in PARIVARTHAN (Counseling and training Centre, Indira Nagar).

Prof. Mamatha has worked as Child Psychologist and moved into the field of Academics. She is consistently involved herself in Research in Psychology. She has published many research articles at various National and International Journals. She has been resource person for various academic events. She has been invited by many schools to address students and parents.

She has actively involved and organized several events promoting mental health. She has counseled many students and parents addressing issues like academic performance, behavioural issues, learning issues, adjustment issues, emotional distress and many more psychological concerns of children. Prof. Mamatha has been training students for research and counseling.

The specific objective of this 'hands on session' is to encourage the faculties to write the research papers and to publish it in the standard journals which are listed in UGC CARE. This 'hands on session' was very much useful for the PG faculties. Through this program we all came to know how to structure the research paper, what contents should be included in the paper, and how to write the research report. This program encourages to do the research and to publish it.

Positive Outcome:

The prime objective of the 'Hands on session' was to promote the knowledge about research among faculties of SFS College. The Research & IP cell took effort to conduct the program to understand more about Research in all the academic fields. The Participants of this program got more information about the writing procedure of the article. It was the informative and encouraging session for faculties who are attended this program.
