University and is now more interested in projecting the words "Mental health is equal to Physical health".

She does counselling for anyone in need of support by just listening and having a person centered approach. She The specific objective of this Faculty Development Programme is to encourage the faculties to develop the Social Skills in Work Place. She is appointed as student counsellor in our college and also in nodal officer to funds.

This Faculty Development Programme was very much useful for the non-teaching faculties. Through this program Through this program they all came to know that how to develop the social skills, what are the social skills they have to develop and what are the importance of social skills etc. This session was conducted as an interactive session. All the non-teaching staff were eagerly participated in this programme. Some of the group activities also have been conducted during this session. This made the session very interesting.

Positive Outcome:

The prime objective of this Faculty Development Programme was to promote the social skills among non-teaching faculties of SFS College. The Faculty Enrichment Committee took effort to conduct the program to understand more about Social skills. The Participants of this program got more information about the Social Skills and as it is an interactive session everyone was sharing their view points. It was the informative and encouraging session for all non-teaching faculties who are attended this program.
