Introduction

“Literature is the art of discovering something extraordinary about ordinary people, and saying with ordinary words something extraordinary” - Boris Pasternak

Research in the field of literature review or literature review is done by summarizing and analyzing the research that has been done in the field and the knowledge that has been established in it. This strategy aids in the investigation of a specific field of study and the identification of a research gap. Researcher can review scholarly articles, books, thesis/dissertation, case studies and other sources related to his/her research area. A systematic review of literature advances the study through showing an area where more research is needed and helps in building a theory.

In a literature review, you evaluate the content in the literature that pertains to your selected area of research. Synthesize, analyses and
