The first orphanage to open in the United States, New York, was opened by nuns, there they helped care for homeless children living in the streets after a war killed their parents and had no place to live and no one to care for them. Many children died because they had to find food and water on their own. Orphans around the world are placed in orphanages for many reasons, some being neglected and/or abused by their parents or because both parents have passed away and have one to care for them.

War, disease, poverty, natural disasters, abandonment, and accidents are among some of the leading causes. These can be directly associated with orphans by the definition of a child who has lost one or both parents. Within and aside from the aforementioned are: cultural pressures, neglect, abuse, child slavery, religious inequity, child prostitution, indentured servitude and more. These are more closely associated with children without parental care that may not be a child that has lost one or more parents. They may live with a relative or neighbor or are on the street or in the jungles and subjected to one of the prior mentioned abuses. Sometimes they simply live with a blind, ill or very old relative that loves, but cannot care for them. They are many varied combinations that contribute to a child suffering without parental care, but the results are the same, regardless of the cause. Statistically the subgroups such as these would not be counted as orphans, but by attributes associated with abuse and neglect, they are one and the same in terms of outcome for the child. Perhaps in some ways their status almost makes them invisible and the danger they are in, is misunderstood by many not familiar with their culture.

Centre for social Actions had conducted an event to give cloths to underprivileged kids on 11/12/2019. 50 kids were benefitted with event. This micro project provides old dresses to the underprivileged children. The objective behind old clothes distribution is to provide the old clothes who are staying on streets, slum areas and providing Orphanages, Old Age Homes, etc. They lack proper dresses to wear. They always depend on used dresses donated by local people.

The underprivileged children are not having proper dresses to wear. They always depending on the mercy of local donors who give used dresses of their children. Sometimes they feel pity for themselves to wear worn out and old dresses. Homeless people mostly reside in slum areas by constructing shacks and wooden houses with available materials. They don't have clothes to cover their body, and they spend their winter without a blanket. And that's the reason behind the death of thousands of people every year in the winter season This micro project solves this problem by providing new dresses to the 50 underprivileged children, which are needful for them. Children feel happy and it also improves their confidence in other aspects. They will not feel pity for themselves. They feel loved. This project has potential & impact full in main streaming of orphans & street children. Their basic needs are met & they will get new life through gaining knowledge, vocational skills & life skills. They will get love & affection as if their parents provide. Their confidence level will increase & become good asset to the community. They are developed physically & psychologically & made as good & productive citizens. They will inspire by philanthropy & show humanity towards the community.
