A REPORT ON SEMINAR ON

Emerging Trends in Knowledge Integration for Business Automation

Date: 18 and 19 March 2019

Venue: College Auditorium

Organized by: Department of Commerce and Research and IP cell

The Department of Commerce organised a Student National Seminar on 18 and 19 March 2019. It was based on the topic "Emerging trends in knowledge integration for business automation". Business process automation (BPA) is a strategy wherein businesses use technology to organize their personnel and systems through workflows. Processes are the sets of activities that move your business toward a goal. Today's competitive edge comes from the speed in which we are able to innovate and create value in our network of customers, suppliers and partners. This demands investments in productivity of the workforce by offering them solutions like business automation that frees them up from repetitive and unproductive work.

Back in the production era of business, process automation meant robotics. But in today's relationship and internet era, process automation has evolved from an emerging technology into the work of determining how best to serve the customers. In its current state as both a programming powerhouse and a model of work efficiency, business process automation (BPA) allows today's professionals to spend their time developing key relationships and differentiating themselves in the marketplace.

The session was intended for UG and PG students. The response was quite good, there was a registration of 26 presenters and 35 participants from many colleges around the city. The seminar started off by 10.30 am by a brief introduction of the judges who were given a floral welcome. Following that the research paper presentations started by 10.45 and the event was judged by eminent personalities like Dr. Krishnan Bhatt, Kristu Jayanthi College and Dr. Rex Jose Joseph Jain University. Dr. Krishnan Bhatt who holds a PhD in Psychology and has proven expertise in Emotional Intelligence, Learning & Development, HRM Assessments., Corporate Leadership, Change management through his publications.
