biased society and how to break the stereo type.

She spoke to students on how to be responsible, successful, self-independent , how to control emotions, improve communication skills and most importantly how to be self-disciplined. She also spoke about the equal responsibility of men and women in family as well as the work place. She also explained about the multiple roles played by women and how they could be financially independent. She also explained about gender policing.

There was an activity conducted for the students, it was an interactive session. The session was also very informative and useful. The session concluded by 1:30 pm.
