The Department of Humanities on 29th October 2021, conducted a Faculty Development Program as a part of Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) with St Paul's Institute of Communication for Women, Mumbai. The title of the FDP was Research Methodology- An Overview.

The session was taken over by Rev. Dr. Fr. Plavendran, Principal, St. Paul's Institute of Communication for Women, Mumbai.

There was a formal welcoming of the Chief Guest by giving him a bouquet.

The FDP concentrated on the importance of Research and its applications in the current world.

The main aims of the FDP are as follows:

- It aims at deliberation, sharing knowledge and getting a deeper understanding of the research and the methodologies.
- Aims in making faculties doing independent research and project works in the future.
- It also aims to provide the faculties with an opportunity to acquire knowledge about contemporary developments that are taking place in various subject fields.

The session began by asking the audience the meaning of research. As the discussion progressed, Father Plavendran explained the importance and the applications of research. He made us understand how faculty members can carry out independent research, write successful research projects, and finally to enable them for the technical communication considering national/international journal/conferences.

He also focused on the different types of research methodologies which can be used in different subject areas. He made us understand through his session that fundamental aspect of relevant research topic selection, literature review, planning of research, project proposal writing and research paper writing will be conducted by the experts along with some hands-on practices which will enable participants to grasp the content methodologically.
