"Goodbyes make you think. They make you realize what you have had, what you have lost, and what you have taken for granted.

-Ritu Ghatourey

The morning of 16th September echoed with the blessings for the batch of 2022 as all students and teachers came together to bid goodbye to the outgoing batch of final year students. It was a morning filled with mixed emotions for everyone present to witness the official send-off for final year students at the batch party. The day was a fiesta devoted to the years spent together with friends and teachers to reminisce the joyous moments of the 3 wonderful years on this amazing campus. CASE STUDY: Maximizing Output

Mr. Kapoor, head of the 'Production Planning and Control Department' of BELCO Ltd, Mr. Kapoor is known for his hard work and involvement in every important decision taken by his bosses. He is with BELCO for the last twenty years and supposed to retire after another ten years of service. He is known for his mild temperament and very friendly nature.

He looks after production planning for both the factories, at Pune and Jamshedpur. He devotes half of every month for visiting and directly controlling these two factories. He has got a young team of five engineers, three MBA graduates and one computer graduate.

Unfortunately, Mr. Kapoor doesn't have an effective information system and communication infrastructure. His subordinates do not report to him properly and in time. Mr. Kapoor always faces a problem when he has to submit the production plans to his superiors and to the factories.

Market variables have now drastically changed. BELCO does not enjoy any monopoly now. Ancillary houses can now think alternatively. Suppliers also are demanding timely orders from BELCO. Sales executives of the company are fed-up with the poor factory supplies.

Mr. Kapoor works for twelve hours in the office, without any concrete support from his colleagues. None of his colleagues are willing to work beyond office hours. Mr. Kapoor's bosses, though they appreciate his hard work, are not fully happy with him. He has now realized that, because of his disorganized and untimely approach to work, he is not in a position to deliver the right goods in time. These days, with increasing pressure of work, he forgets his priorities. He also forgets the commitments he made to his colleagues, his family members and friends. Sometimes he feels frustrated. He is afraid that he may not get his next promotion, which is due after six months.

QUESTIONS

1. What are your suggestions for Mr. Kapoor, to maximize his output and give it in time?
2. If you were Mr. Kapoor, how will you handle this situation of poor communication, improper delegation which has led to inefficiency in work and also stress and frustration.

Analyse the case and provide suitable solutions to the above questions.

Debate Competition

In view of developing the skills of logical thinking and presentation, the Chaucer's Academy had organized a debate competition for the students on 10 August 2022. The topic for debate was 'Is Technology making us less human'? Though debate has been a very common and classical method of honing the students' speaking skills, it is also the most popular one. Students thoroughly enjoy debate competitions since it gives them an opportunity to place their ideas and defend their point of view by placing their arguments logically.

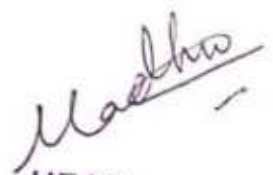

There are two parties in the debate competition, the proposition side is called the Affirmative – the party which argues for the topic. The other party is the opposition party called the Negative. Students were interested in taking part in this competition as the topic drew the attention of many of them. Today's youth are tech savvy and we are in an era where technology has surpassed human interaction. Students were well prepared to speak since the brochures were circulated in all the class groups and students had registered for the competition. The competition was conducted in the closed auditorium at 12.30 pm. The Judges for the debate competition were Dr.Mariapriya from PG-MBA and Prof.Lakshmi Balakrishnan from Humanities department. Inspired by the participants who were debating on the stage, many more on the spot entries came up. While some of them argued that technology is required for the sake of convenience, few others argued that life is easier without technology. It was quite surprising to hear from few of them that most of their interaction with their families happens through social media. Many students were also against technology since it kills their time and creativity. They also felt that it makes them less humane since it denies any scope for emotions. Citing examples while arguing, students mentioned about how human beings have lost empathy in the process of capturing photographs/videos for the posting on social media. Students also admitted that the jargons widely used by the youth is followers, instagram, influencers, subscribers etc. Towards the close of the competition, the judges also addressed the students and mentioned the need for the youth to de-addict and engage themselves in creative affairs. The judges also announced the prize winners of the competition. Out of the two teams that participated, the following were the winners:

Team A : Stephen Cyril – First Prize; Niveditha and Himangni – Second Prize

Team B : Sam – First Prize; Ankit Roy – Second Prize

Puppet show Competition-2022

Puppetry is an ancient form of artistic expression that adds to the variation in storytelling or human theatrical productions. It involves the manipulation of puppets. The human animator may or may not be visible to the audience. Puppet shows seem to have existed in almost all civilizations and in almost all periods. Cultural variations of puppetry developed independently in many parts of the world, with distinctive types still carried on today in Japan, China, Germany, Indonesia, and the United States, among other places.

There are different types of puppets. Each type has its own individual characteristics, and for each there are certain kinds of suitable dramatic material. Certain types have developed only under specific cultural or geographic conditions. Human-arm puppets or two-person puppets are large puppets controlled by two puppeteers – one for the head and mouth, another for the arms. A marotte is a simple puppet featuring only a head or body placed on a stick, with some examples featuring one moving arm or a mouth that can open. A marionette is a puppet controlled from above, using strings. Body puppets, also known as carnival puppets, they are gigantic puppets used for street spectacles or large-scale theatre. Shadow puppetry, uses silhouetted figure illuminated with a light source, producing shadows that the audience can see.

In a collegiate learning environment, we wanted to cater to learner diversity by creating a variety of learning opportunities for students that foster the development of different language and literary skills. Puppetry is an effective and versatile learning tool with a unique approach to the development of literacy skills in a fun and engaging manner. With this outlook, Chaucer's academy from the department of English, organised a Puppet Show competition for the students on 29 January 2022.

Owing to Covid restrictions, students were asked to upload their puppet show in the Google Classroom. There were around 6 registrations from the Undergraduate students. It was a maiden attempt by the Chaucer's academy to announce a competition of this sort.

Students unleashed their creative abilities by creating puppets of their own and using it in the story that they preferred. Crows, parrots, dogs, peacock, old lady and many other characters figured in the puppet show submissions. The Puppet show was judged by Dr.Noor Nigar from the department of English. The first prize was won by Pooja Bhati V, from First Semester BSC PCM and two others won the participation awards. They were Monika R, from third semester BCA and Lavanya B, from First semester B.Com D. The successful participants were awarded with an E-Certificate.

The event was successfully organised by the Chaucer's Academy, Department of English to provide students with an exposure to creative instincts and improvement in communication skills. Puppet theatre performed by students online, stands as a testimony to this well thought after event.

On behalf of Hindi department - SURABHI ASSOCIATION, HINDI DIWAS was [type here] conducted on the 14th of Sep, 2022 for all semester students.

On behalf of Hindi Department – SURABHI ASSOCIATION: HINDI DIWAS was conducted on 14/9/2022 for all Hindi students. Around 114 students took part in the programme. They were motivated by the Vice Principle, Fr, Jijo and Ms. Lathika, the college counsellor. The objective of the programme was to promote Hindi Language. Hindi Diwas is celebrated every year on September 14 to mark the adaptation of Hindi as the official language by constituent Assembly in 1949. The decision to mark September 14 as Hindi Diwas was taken by Jawaharlal Nehru. Hindi got its name from the Persian word Hind, meaning 'the land of the Indus River'.

There is a great need to celebrate Hindi Diwas as an event every year in order to pay honour and pass its significance to the next generation. Hindi Diwas should be celebrated, not only because it is our official language, but also because we must respect and commemorate it's history from time to time.

The celebration initiated the enthusiasm among the youth about the language. It motivated and brought positive perceptions about Hindi among youths. So, we should celebrate Hindi Diwas with great enthusiasm every year by participating in the variety of programs like speech, dance, songs etc, in order to heartily feel the importance and beauty of the Hindi language.

Overall, it was enjoyable and a learning experience for the students as they could keep abreast with the happenings in the wider world around them. The students participated well and gave a positive response to the program.

REPORT

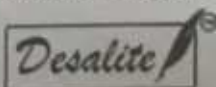

Colour is something everyone envisions every day. Colours tend to influence a person's behaviour and is an effective tool for communication. It is known that various colours denote various meanings, religiously and socially. Keeping this in mind, The PG Cultural committee organized Colour week from 12th of September (Monday) to 17th of September (Saturday) under the name "Rainbow week" for the very first time. Colours are associated with emotions and can influence a person's mental and emotional state. They can spark a variety of positive and negative emotions. In clothing, interiors, landscape, and even in natural light, colour can change the mood from sad to happy, from confusion to intelligence, from fear to confidence. It can be used to "level out" emotions or to create different moods which can be positive or negative.

The Cultural committee along with the student counsel came up with a list of colours for the entire week. Initially, everyone was imparted about the meaning of the colour mentioned for the week, its effects on mood, how it can positively impact the students and faculty. All the faculty and students were informed and encouraged to be dressed on the colours for the day as mentioned below:

All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy! This commonly used maxim is so true when it concerns the profession like teaching which demands the constant attention and dedication of knowledge-seekers. This brings into focus the need for a fun element to learn and to motivate all the teaching staff to learn something new or to hone a skill that they possess as a gift. The Cultural Committee and The Faculty Enrichment Committee both altogether had conducted a cultural program on the theme of “Free to express! Rise & Fly!” on 11th February 2022 at 12 noon for all the teaching staff working at St Francis De Sales College. The program was conducted in the Auditorium. Principal, Vice Principal and all the teaching faculty members participated in the session.

The program was driven by Ashwini C, Assistant professor of Management and Anusha, Assistant Professor of Commerce. Every human being has been blessed with different abilities, talents and capabilities. Every one differs from each other in that everyone has different interests and inclinations. These talents define a person as an artist, singer, dancer, writer etc. Everyone has the talents in their own depth; story, meaning and beauty which make them stand out among others.

In order to bring out the talents of the teaching faculty many competitions were conducted such as Book ramp, Guess what, Mirror of minds, Instant winner, Ball in the bucket and Just a minute. It was great entertainment for all teaching staff and it was the platform for them to show their potential talents.

This program entertained all the teaching staff and gave some refreshment in their day to day work routine. It was an interactive session. All the teaching staff interacted well and shared their thoughts.

Positive Outcome:

The prime objective of this program was to bring the talents of teaching staff and to entertain them in a funny way. When entertainment and job go hand in hand, everyone can benefit a great deal. Everyone craves recognition and appreciation. So the stage was welcoming every teacher to show off their talents, to participate in the events and to entertain others. For every activity the winners got a small gift and were appreciated by all other staff. It was a great entertainment and encouraging session for all the teaching staff who attended this program.
